	How can our school provide you with more support for home learning? (96 responses)	You are already providing everything. I am very happy with that. Function for parents to contact school teacher directly, not just via the year shared email address/ Teacher been available all times during school hours Provide more resources, text books at home may have been easy for some subjects to go through with our kids. Maybe try and include more writing and creative workshops. Spellings is not there anymore which really helped previously as they had to write sentences using those words. Some schools in Brent are doing live lessons which would have been good to introduce on some days even if it was once a week.
	What are we doing well? (96 responses)	Google meets has been well received and better structured than children learning independently. Calling home if they don't attend meetings. Overall excellent work given all the challenges everyone is faced with. Introduction of the support sessions was a good idea. Two live lessons a day is a very good thing happening during remote learning. My child always looks forward to the sessions.
	What could we do to improve our approach to home learning? (79 responses)	Nothing cause you are doing everything well. Setting some optional work/challenges either for academic or physical purpose or just for fun.

		Have a session where the children can just interact and chat between themselves. By asking parents opinions and comments to see if it helps the children. So far so good. However, if a suggestion is a must, then i would say that it is difficult to monitor the students online as against the campus based learning; and hence the teachers must try and make sure that every student gets equal attention as far as possible.
	Do you have any other comments? (72 responses)	Well done Roe green for all the effort put into making home schooling feasible. Thank you for listening to parents inputs. Thank you for all of your hard work and support. We just hope that school starts as soon as possible. Maybe provide a break out room where children can work together on tasks online. Keep all safe. Keep on doing your best to keep child engaged with work and for their best abilities to complete. If you can have some online class for PE or music, creative curriculum which they easy find and manage at home.
